Dobe Ju Hoansi:

The Dobe Ju/'hoansi Richard B. Lee, 2003 This classic bestselling study of the Kung San foragers of the Dobe area of the Kalahari Desert describes a people's reactions to the forces of modernization detailing relatively recent changes to Kung rituals beliefs social structure marriage and kinship system It documents their determination to take hold of their own destiny despite exploitation of their habitat and relentless development to assert their political rights and revitalize their communities Use of the name Ju hoansi meaning real people acknowledges their new sense of empowerment The Dobe Ju/'Hoansi Lee, 2012-02-01 This classic bestselling study of the Kung San foragers of the Dobe area of the Kalahari Desert describes a people's reactions to the forces of modernization detailing relatively recent changes to Kung rituals beliefs social structure marriage and kinship system It documents their determination to take hold of their own destiny despite exploitation of their habitat and relentless development to assert their political rights and revitalize their communities Use of the name Ju hoansi meaning real people acknowledges their new sense of empowerment Since the publication of the Third Edition in 2003 Richard Lee has made eight further trips to the Kalahari the most recent in 2010 and 2011 The Dobe and Nyae Nyae Areas have continued to transform and the people have had to respond and adapt to the pressures of capitalist economics and bureaucratic governance of the Namibian and Botswana states This Fourth Edition chronicles and bears witness to these evolving social conditions and their impacts on lives of the Ju hoansi Important Notice Media content referenced within the product description or the product text may not be available in the ebook version The Dobe Ju/'hoansi Richard Borshay Lee, 2011 The Dobe Ju/'hoansi, 2015 Human Ecology Daniel G. Bates, Judith Tucker, 2010-03-29 This book arose from the need to develop accessible research based case study material which addresses contemporary issues and problems in the rapidly evolving field of human ecology Academic political and indeed public interest in the environmental sciences is on the rise This is no doubt spurred by media coverage of climate change and global warming and attendant natural disasters such as unusual drought and flood conditions toxic dust storms pollution of air and water and the like But there is also a growing intellectual awareness of the social causes of anthropogenic environmental impacts political vectors in determining conservation outcomes and the role of local representations of ecological knowledge in resource management and sustainable yield production This is reflected in the rapid increase of ecology courses being taught at leading universities in the fast growing developing countries much as was the case a decade or two ago in Europe and North America The research presented here is all taken from recent issues of Human Ecology An Interdisciplinary Journal Since the journal itself is a leading forum for contemporary research the articles we have selected represent a cross section of work which brings the perspectives of human ecology to bear on current problems being faced around the world The chapters are organized in such a way to facilitate the use of this volume either to teach a course or to introduce an informed reader to the field

Processual Archaeology Amber Johnson, 2004-11-30 Processual archaeologists seek to explain variability in the static archaeological record we observe in the present as a necessary first step toward learning how to learn about the operation of cultural dynamics in the past The approach is a diverse and productive one that focuses on developing learning strategies Researchers pursuing processual archaeology have already discovered a great deal about the archaeological record and about past dynamics and there is a huge potential for building on the foundation laid thus far The contributors to this volume provide clearly written research articles that are easily accessible to upper level undergraduates and professional archaeologists Although the papers do not focus on a single region time period or domain of observation e g settlement patterns or lithics or site structure they are integrated by shared goals for archaeology This book clearly demonstrates that processual archaeology far from having been replaced by post processual archaeology is becoming more and more powerful as our analytic sophistication and knowledge of the archaeological record grow Beyond War Douglas P. Fry,2009-04-10 A profoundly heartening view of human nature Beyond War offers a hopeful prognosis for a future without war Douglas P Fry convincingly argues that our ancient ancestors were not innately warlike and neither are we He points out that for perhaps ninety nine percent of our history for well over a million years humans lived in nomadic hunter and gatherer groups egalitarian bands where warfare was a rarity Drawing on archaeology and fascinating recent fieldwork on hunter gatherer bands from around the world Fry debunks the idea that war is ancient and inevitable For instance among Aboriginal Australians warfare was an extreme anomaly Fry also points out that even today when war seems ever present the vast majority of us live peaceful nonviolent lives We are not as warlike as we think and if we can learn from our ancestors we may be able to move beyond war to provide real justice and security for the world Human Adaptive Strategies Daniel Bates,Judith Tucker,Ludomir Lozny,2023-05-31 This book introduces students to cultural anthropology with an emphasis on environmental and evolutionary approaches focusing on how humans adapt to their environment and how the environment shapes culture It shows how cultures evolve within the context of people s strategies for surviving and thriving in their environments This approach is widely used among scholars as a cross disciplinary tool that rewards students with valuable insights into contemporary developments Drawing on anthropological case studies the authors address immediate human concerns such as the costs and consequences of human energy requirements environmental change and degradation population pressure social and economic equity and planned and unplanned change Impacts of increasingly rapid climatic change on equitable access to resources and issues of human rights are discussed throughout Towards the end of the book the student is drawn into a challenging thought experiment addressing the possible impacts of climatic warming on Middle America in the year 2040 All chapters conclude with Summary Key Terms and Suggested Readings This book is an ideal text for students of introductory anthropology and archaeology environmental studies world history and human and cultural ecology courses Chronicling Cultures Robert V. Kemper,Anya Peterson Royce,2002-04-23 Description of methods used in long term anthropological field projects some extending over half a century Visit our website for sample chapters The

Globalization and Change in Fifteen Cultures George Spindler, Janice E. Stockard, 2007 The original articles presented in this anthology reflect a world changed by globalization and an anthropology committed to documenting the effects of the vast cultural flows of people information goods and technology now in motion the world over The editors write an introduction to the topic of cultural change and each of the fifteen anthropologists in the anthology take students on a return visit to their original field sites asking questions for a new era and writing of peoples to some extent familiar but at the same time changed transformed by global forces A Fieldwork Bio on the researcher begins each chapter and together they document four main dimensions in culture change including challenges to identity and power changing gender hierarchies new patterns of migration and mobility and the effects of economic change and modernization Women and Men Nancy Bonvillain, 2001 This concise pocket sized guide presents the classic Bates approach to physical examination and history taking in a quick reference outline format The book features a beautiful full color art program and an easy to follow two column format with step by step examination techniques on the left and abnormalities with differential diagnoses on the right This edition s health promotion sections have been extensively updated and expanded in all chapters Detailed information on pain assessment is now included in the general survey vital signs and pain chapter A new chapter presents assessment of mental health status and behavior to encompass the psychosocial dimensions of care The Khoe and San Shelagh M. Willet, 2002 Compiled by the University of Botswana which houses a unique collection of contemporary published and unpublished written material on the indigenous minority of Southern Africa The aim was to make this literature available in one collection and thus promote research on with and by this minority The volume lists over a thousand bibliographic entries covering the social sciences languages and history as well as publications from national and regional San organisations Short abstracts of each entry are linked to a list of keywords and authors Taking Sides Robert Louis Welsch, Kirk M. Endicott, 2006 This text is a debate style reader designed to introduce students to controversies in cultural anthropology The readings which represent the arguments of leading anthropologists and educators reflect a variety of viewpoints and have been selected for their liveliness and substance their relevance to the topics included in college level study of cultural anthropology and because of their value in a debate framework Back cover FORAGING SPECTRUM PB KELLY ROBERT L., 1995-07-17 The author wrote this book primarily for his archaeology students to show them how dangerous anthropological analogy is and how variable the actual practices of foragers of the recent past and today are His survey of anthropological literature points to differences in foraging societies patterns of diet mobility sharing land tenure exchange gender relations division of labour marriage descent and political organisation By considering the actual not imagined reasons behind diverse behaviour this book argues for a revision of many archaeological models of prehistory San and the State Thekla Hohmann,2003
