Description Of Egypt:

The Description of Egypt from Napoleon to Champollion Tamar Sarfatti, 2022-12-01 This book is the first study in English of the multi volume set of texts and engravings of the Description of Egypt a work produced following the three year long Egyptian campaign led by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1798 The book challenges the conventional and rather reductive interpretation of the Description that followed Edward Said's Orientalism as a summation of an orientalist colonial project It re-centres the Description in the much more complex and dynamic political and intellectual world of France of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth century and its colonial aspirations It follows closely the notes texts and illustrations of the contributors to the work the majority of whom were graduates of the first years of the Polytechnic school in Paris and the well documented editing process that continued for almost thirty years in which France moved from Revolution to Empire and Restoration It shows the ways in which scholarly traditions and newly acquired skills interplay with Enlightenment texts contemporary politics and received ideas about antiquity and how these were reinterpreted and modified in texts and illustrations through the encounter with the physical and social worlds of Ottoman Egypt Using the rich repository of the Description of Egypt the book demonstrates the contribution of antiquarian methods of research to the emerging disciplines of the social sciences

Description of Egypt Edward William Lane, 2000 The launching of this hitherto unpublished book by the great nineteenth century British traveler Edward William Lane 1801-76 a name known to almost everyone in all the many fields of Middle East studies is a major publishing event Lane was the author of a number of highly influential works An Account of the Manners and Customs of the Modern Egyptians 1836 his translation of The Thousand and One Nights 1839-41 Selections from the Kur'an 1843 and the Arabic English Lexicon 1863-93 Yet one of his greatest works was never published after years of labor and despite an enthusiastic reception by the publishing firm of John Murray in 1831 publication of his first book Description of Egypt was delayed and eventually dropped mainly for financial reasons The manuscript was sold to the British Library by Lane's widow in 1891 and has only now been salvaged for publication by Dr Jason Thompson nearly 170 years after its completion This enormously important book which takes the form of a journey through Egypt from north to south with descriptions of all the ancient monuments and contemporary life that Lane explored along the way will be of immense interest to both ancient and modern historians of Egypt and will become an essential companion to his Manners and Customs Jason Thompson's exact and dedicated edition deserves much praise Astene Newsletter June 2002 Thompson a historian at AUC has done signal service in taking a manuscript dating from 1831 and preparing it for publication so many years later AUC Press deserves praise for making so major a work available and at so reasonable a price Daniel Pipes Middle East Quarterly June 2001 In all the appearance of this major work of scholarship at this late date is a major boon to the study of Egypt's history between the pharaohs and 18280 Daniel Pipes Middle East Quarterly June 2001

The Napoleonic Survey of Egypt Terence M. Russell, 2001 Napoleon Bonaparte celebrated his conquest of Egypt in 1798 by commissioning a survey of the country's treasures published as the Description de l'Égypte. An army of engravers collaborated with artist illustrators over a thirty-year period to produce 900 folio engravings of huge proportions depicting the architecture, monuments, and antiquities of ancient Egypt together with contemporary views of the country. Reproducing large sections of the original folio, this is the first book in English to provide an accessible and comprehensive account of the origins and creation of the Description de l'Égypte. Terence M. Russell draws upon numerous first-hand reports of the French exploration in order to re-evaluate the intellectual and artistic achievements of Napoleon's ambitious campaign. He shows how different from anything else conceived at the time, the rich plethora of drawings and personal writings compiled by the intrepid French explorers opened European eyes to the diverse splendours of a long forgotten civilization, giving rise to the science of Egyptology.

Egypt: a familiar description of the land, people and produce, 1850 Egypt on the Pentateuch's Ideological Map Franz V. Greifenhagen, 2003-04-01 This book explores the references to Egypt in the Pentateuch twice as dense as in the rest of the Hebrew Bible in the context of the production of the text's final form during the Persian period. Here, as Greifenhagen shows, Egypt functions ideologically as the primary other over against which Israel's identity is constructed, while its role in Israel's formation appears as subsidiary and as a superseded stage in a master narrative which locates Israel's ethnic roots in Mesopotamia. But the presentation of this powerful neighbour is equivocal: a dominant anti-Egyptian stance coexists with alternative, though subordinate, pro-Egyptian views, suggesting that the Pentateuchal narrative was produced within a context of ideological conflict over attitudes towards a land that provided a home for Jewish fugitives and emigrants.

A Handbook for Travellers in Lower and upper Egypt; including Descriptions of the Course of the Nile through Egypt and Nubia, Alexandria, Cairo, the Pyramids, Thebes, the Suez Canal, the Peninsula of Mount Sinai, the Oases, the Fayoom, etc, 1888 Egypt Karl Baedeker (Firm), 1898 Egypt, 1895 The Bible of Egypt's Geography Mohamed A. Nasef, 2018-11-01 The book provides a brief description of Egypt's geography and its general characteristics such as location, topography, land-water interactions, land use, and land cover changes, population characteristics, and urbanization. These factors are proven to have a significant influence on climate. The geographic and climatic characteristics of Egypt are important to give insights into the links between the physical and human environment and climate behaviour. GIS plays a vital role in this book where it works with several layers of such thematic data and it can answer questions by comparing the different layers and also by overlaying them to show the spatial variability in the affecting factors and its change over the different periods to give you a clear picture about the Egyptian lands.

The Literature of Egypt and the Soudan from the Earliest Times to the Year 1885 [i.e. 1887] Inclusive Prince Ibrahim-Hilmy (son of Ismail, Khedive of Egypt), 1888 Egypt... Karl Baedeker, 1895 Holding Egypt Andrew Bednarski, 2005 Any person with an interest in the history of Egyptology quickly learns of the monumental Description de l'Égypte, a result of research undertaken by French scholars during Napoleon's invasion of Egypt in 1798. The starting point for this study is the long standing belief particularly visible in English literature that this nineteenth century French corpus was the first point in the development of Egyptology Yet despite this oft repeated belief the issues of where exactly the work went or what people made of it have yet to be explored This book attempts to test the broad notion that the Description was the seminal point in the development of Egyptology by exploring its reception in Great Britain in the early nineteenth century
