

THE DOCTORS JACOBI

Rhoda Truax

Mary Putnam and Abraham Jacobi, both doctors, changed the course of medicine in America – and for themselves found a perfect partnership and marriage.

Doctors Jacobi

Victor M. Corman

Doctors Jacobi:

Madhouses, Mad-Doctors, and Madmen Andrew Scull, 1981-08 The Victorian Age saw the transformation of the madhouse into the asylum into the mental hospital of the mad doctor into the alienist into the psychiatrist and of the madman and madwoman into the mental patient In Andrew Scull's edited collection Madhouses Mad Doctors and Madmen contributors' essays offer a historical analysis of the issues that continue to plague the psychiatric profession today Topics covered include the debate over the effectiveness of institutional or community treatment the boundary between insanity and criminal responsibility the implementation of commitment laws and the differences in defining and treating mental illness based on the gender of the patient

A Doctor's Memories Victor Clarence Vaughan, 1926

Disorder Peter A. Swenson, 2021-11-30 An incisive look into the problematic relationships among medicine politics and business in America and their effects on the nation's health Meticulously tracing the dramatic conflicts both inside organized medicine and between the medical profession and the larger society over quality equality and economy in health care Peter A Swenson illuminates the history of American medical politics from the late nineteenth century to the present This book chronicles the role of medical reformers in the progressive movement around the beginning of the twentieth century and the American Medical Association's dramatic turn to conservatism later Addressing topics such as public health medical education pharmaceutical regulation and health care access Swenson paints a disturbing picture of the entanglements of medicine politics and profit seeking that explain why the United States remains the only economically advanced democracy without universal health care Swenson does however see a potentially brighter future as a vanguard of physicians push once again for progressive reforms and the adoption of inclusive effective and affordable practices

Out of the Dead House Susan Wells, 2012-11-01 In the last decades of the nineteenth century two thousand women physicians formed a significant and lively scientific community in the United States Many were active writers they participated in the development of medical record keeping and research and they wrote self-help books social and political essays fiction and poetry Out of the Dead House rediscovers the contributions these women made to the developing practice of medicine and to a community of women in science Susan Wells combines studies of medical genres such as the patient history or the diagnostic conversation with discussions of individual writers The women she discusses include Ann Preston the first woman dean of a medical college Hannah Longshore a successful practitioner who combined conventional and homeopathic medicine Rebecca Crumpler the first African American woman physician to publish a medical book and Mary Putnam Jacobi writer of more than 180 medical articles and several important books Wells shows how these women learned to write what they wrote and how these texts were read Out of the Dead House also documents the ways that women doctors influenced medical discourse during the formation of the modern profession They invented forms and strategies for medical research and writing including methods of using survey information taking patient histories and telling case histories Out of the Dead House adds a critical episode to the developing story of women as producers and critics of culture including scientific culture Tunneling to the Future Peter Derrick,2002-04 Derrick archivist Bronx County Historical Society tells the story of what was at the time the largest and most expensive single municipal project ever attempted the 1913 expansion of the New York City Dual System of Rapid Transit He considers the factors motivating the expansion the process of its design the controversies surrounding financing it and its impact on New York then and today Appendixes summarize the contracts and related certificates and list the opening dates of Dual System

Zumwalt,2019-11-01 Rosemary L vy Zumwalt tells the remarkable story of Franz Boas one of the leading scholars and public intellectuals of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The first book in a two part biography Franz Boas begins with the anthropologist s birth in Minden Germany in 1858 and ends with his resignation from the American Museum of Natural History in 1906 while also examining his role in training professional anthropologists from his berth at Columbia University in New York City Zumwalt follows the stepping stones that led Boas to his vision of anthropology as a four field discipline a journey demonstrating especially his tenacity to succeed the passions that animated his life and the toll that the professional struggle took on him Zumwalt guides the reader through Boas s childhood and university education describes his joy at finding the great love of his life Marie Krackowizer traces his 1883 trip to Baffin Land and recounts his efforts to find employment in the United States A central interest in the book is Boas s widely influential publications on cultural relativism and issues of race particularly his book The Mind of Primitive Man 1911 which reshaped anthropology the social sciences and public debates about the problem of racism in American society Franz Boas presents the remarkable life story of an American intellectual giant as told in his own words through his unpublished letters diaries and field notes Zumwalt weaves together the strands of the personal and the professional to reveal Boas s love for his family and for the discipline of
