It was the day everything fell into ruin

It was the day I met him, like everyone did this day. It was a meeting I never had expected. I thought him being far away.

It was the day everything fell into ruin.

I had no idea about the date we had; however I knew, I would never forget this day. You lose your sense of time, when your whole world stops moving.

I wrapped my hand around the stick, hoping it would protect me.

I wanted to cry, I wanted to scream but my throat was empty. I wanted to turn my back, I didn't want to see anymore. I wished darkness before my closed, teary eyes; such a comfortable view.

Academic Advancement in Composition Studies Richard C. Gebhardt, Barbara Genelle Smith Gebhardt, 2013-10-16 This volume deals with a number of related issues that are becoming increasingly crucial for English studies during this time when most faculty in the field are assistant professors approaching tenure review or associate professors seeking promotion. These critical issues focus on the diversity of research and scholarly publication in composition studies. The fact that composition studies faculty are often evaluated by personnel committee members, department chairs, and deans unfamiliar with the nature and demands of the field. The way that American higher education is rethinking scholarship and the role it plays in the work and evaluation of faculty members and the role composition studies faculty can play in this review of scholarship and professional advancement. This book seeks to address the entire spectrum of composition studies: expository and argumentative writing, personal essay, literary nonfiction, technical and business writing, historical rhetoric, empirical research, and more, by understanding the nature of and evaluating the work of faculty members in this broad field. Scholarship and advancement issues are discussed in a variety of situations, including basic and regular first-year composition classes at four-year and two-year institutions or writing centers, advanced writing courses, ESL and skills development programs, and writing classes and programs for teachers, administrators, and researchers. The chapters focus on a variety of subjects, including the importance of mentoring and faculty development in all departments and institutions, and how young scholar teachers and assistant professors can prepare for a successful personnel or tenure review.

Between Form and Faith Martyn Sampson, 2021-08-03 What is a Catholic novel? This book analyzes the fiction of Graham Greene in a radically new manner, considering in depth its form and content, which rest on the oppositions between secularism and religion. Sampson challenges these distinctions, arguing that Greene has a dramatic contribution to add to their methodological premises. Chapters on Greene's four Catholic novels and two of his post-Catholic novels are complemented by fresh insight into the critical importance of his nonfiction. The study paints an image of an inviting yet beguilingly complex literary figure.
