economics philosophy politics and sociology   Advertising as Communication Gillian Dyer,2008-03-07 Advertising is a form of communication that constantly impinges on our daily lives yet we are often unaware of its more subtle form of persuasion or of the extent to which it manipulates our consumer culture This book sets out to examine advertising as a form of communication in contemporary society and also places it in its wider cultural and economic context   The International History of Communication Study Peter Simonson,David W. Park,2015-10-14 The International History of Communication Study maps the growth of media and communication studies around the world Drawing out transnational flows of ideas institutions publications and people it offers the most comprehensive picture to date of the global history of communication research and education This volume reaches into national and regional areas that have not received much attention in the scholarship until now including Asia Latin America Africa and the Middle East alongside Europe and North America It also covers communication study outside of academic settings in international organizations like UNESCO and among commercial and civic groups It moves beyond the traditional canon to cover work by forgotten figures including women scholars in the field and those outside of the United States and Europe and it situates them all within the broader geopolitical institutional and intellectual landscapes that have shaped communication study globally Intended for scholars and graduate students in communication media studies and journalism this volume pushes the history of communication study in new directions by taking an aggressively international and comparative perspective on the historiography of the field Methodologically and conceptually the volume breaks new ground in bringing comparative transnational and global frames to bear and puts under the spotlight what has heretofore only lingered in the penumbra of the history of communication study   Reflections on the International Association for Media and Communication Research Jörg Becker,Robin Mansell,2023-04-29 Throughout its 65 year history the International Association for Media and Communication Research IAMCR has sought to facilitate international exchanges and research collaborations among academics and journalists in the field of media and communication Created during a time of strong ideological tension following World War II in 1957 and with the support of UNESCO the contributors to this edited collection highlight how the IAMCR and its members shaped the field of media and communications research From its beginnings focusing on the mass media including the press and journalism education today the Association attracts researchers and practitioners who undertake critical analysis of contemporary media and communications including online platforms and their governance Consistent themes throughout the Association s history have been its concern with human rights law culture and the political economy of the media and communication industries Not content simply to understand developments in the media and communications field around the world the Association s membership has sought to change the world through its published research and its participation in global regional national and local policy debate and practice This volume is organised in four parts following an introduction authored by editors who are active members of IAMCR Part I highlights eight prominent scholarly traditions of research which have attracted the interest of scholars from around the world as well as the way the Association has sought to be inclusive of early career scholars Part II offers seven chapters which bring to light the political struggles of a membership seeking to engage in scholarship across the East West divide and to contribute to global debates aimed at fostering an inclusive fair and equitable international information and communication order through engagement with United Nations sponsored initiatives Part III turns to accounts of the way members from selected countries and regions have contributed to the Association s scholarly work The last part highlights the significant scholarly and institution building contributions of James Halloran IAMCR s President from 1972 to 1988 and other prominent contributors to the study of culture and the political economy of media and communications Introduction to Contemporary Cultural Studies David Punter,1986 The Contemporary Review ,1918 Contemporary World Television John Sinclair,Graeme Turner,2004-06-26 What is happening today in the world of world television With intense commercialization and more open national markets along with technological convergence and greater concentration of ownership the international TV landscape is changing at a bewildering pace and in a host of different ways Contemporary World Television presents a unique overview of the global issues raised by these transformations in television It looks at how they have affected the public interest and society across the globe and how the role of television as a nation builder is experiencing erosion and evolution The book s host of international expert contributors also examine TV s handling of news and sexual content and its role in military conflicts As well they provide current assessments of how the global trends have diversely affected many different countries regions or language communities outside the Anglophone mainstream Fully illustrated the book also uses case studies and selected reading guides and thus provides a transparent and accessible but in depth introduction to central developments issues and concerns in contemporary world television Carr V.
