Engineering Electronic Negotiations Michael Ströbel, 2013-11-11 Michael Ströbel worked for several years as a software engineer and consultant in the German IT industry before joining IBM Research in Switzerland where he developed his interest in support for negotiations in electronic markets. During his career in research, he has published several articles on this topic in major international conferences and journals and received a PhD from the University of St Gallen, Switzerland. Based on his experiences and contributions, the author discusses electronic negotiation technologies, key ingredients for the next generation of electronic markets, from a scientific as well as a practitioner's perspective. He reviews the state of the art and then introduces novel support mechanisms and design elements which are applied in a number of case studies. This book is geared towards technicians interested in E-Commerce application development but also offers extensive background reading for educational purposes.

Handbook of Empirical Corporate Finance SET Bjørn Espen Eckbo, 2008-12-23 This two-volume set summarizes recent research on corporate decision making. The first volume covers measurement and theoretical subjects as well as sources of capital including banks, public offerings, and private investors. In the second volume, contributors focus on the ways corporations are structured and the practices through which they can be bought and sold. Thus, its major subjects include dividends, capital structure, financial distress, takeovers, restructurings, and managerial incentives. Takes stock of the main empirical findings to date across an unprecedented spectrum of corporate finance issues. Discusses everything from econometric methodology to raising capital and capital structure choice and to managerial incentives and corporate investment behavior. Contributors are leading empirical researchers that remain active in their respective areas of expertise. Writing style makes the chapters accessible to industry practitioners.

Google AdWords Ultimate Guide 2024: PPC Search Ads Dinesh Kumar VM, 2020-08-07 About Google Ads: Google is the most used search engine by users around the world. As of now, more than 92% of the online users are using Google to find information about products, services, and to learn more about new things. Only the remaining 8% of the online usage is shared by the other search engines like Bing, Yahoo, Baidu, Yandex, and DuckDuckGo. From this insight, it is clear that if you would like to get more reach for your business online, then Google Search is one of the mediums by which you can get in touch with the right audience for your business. By using the Google search, you can get in touch with the right audience for your business in two ways: one is via Organic SEO, the other one is Google PPC. Organic SEO is the way of optimizing the business website to rank for the potential search terms. When it comes to SEO, you need to invest a lot of time and effort to make the business website rank for potential search terms. The second one is the Google PPC. Google has its own advertising platform called Google AdWords Ads, Google PPC (Pay Per Click). By using the Google Ads, you can make the target users land on your website from the Google search by making your business ads to rank above the organic search results. When it comes to Google Ads, you need to pay for Google when any of the users from the Google Search clicks on your ads and lands on your website. Both SEO and Google PPC have their own pros and cons. The main advantage of the SEO is that you don't need to pay for Google for the users landing on your website from the search. But you need to invest more on SEO to rank the website on top of the SERP's Search Engine Results Page for the potential search terms. When it comes to Google PPC, you need to pay to Google for each and every click that you receive on your ads on Google Search from the normal users. Despite both the SEO and Google PPC as a business, people you should be giving equal importance to both to stand ahead of your competitors.
