The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism Tanja A. Börzel, Thomas Risse, 2016-02-04 The Oxford Handbook of Comparative Regionalism the first of its kind offers a systematic and wide ranging survey of the scholarship on regionalism regionalization and regional governance Unpacking the major debates leading authors of the field synthesize the state of the art provide a guide to the comparative study of regionalism and identify future avenues of research Twenty seven chapters review the theoretical and empirical scholarship with regard to the emergence of regionalism the institutional design of regional organizations and issue specific governance as well as the effects of regionalism and its relationship with processes of regionalization The authors explore theories of cooperation integration and diffusion explaining the rise and the different forms of regionalism The handbook also discusses the state of the art on the world regions North America Latin America Europe Eurasia Asia North Africa and the Middle East and Sub Saharan Africa Various chapters survey the literature on regional governance in major issue areas such as security and peace trade and finance environment migration social and gender policies as well as democracy and human rights Finally the handbook engages in cross regional comparisons with regard to institutional design dispute settlement identities and communities legitimacy and democracy as well as inter and transregionalism

Parliamentary Institutions in Regional and International Governance Andrea Cofelice, 2018-09-25 This volume offers an original and theoretically grounded conceptualization and measurement of international parliamentary institutions and their role in ensuring the accountability of regional international organizations Through a comparative analysis of the establishment evolution institutional organization oversight and policymaking functions of 22 parliamentary institutions mainly from European African and Latin American regional international organizations the book serves a twofold purpose First it allows assessment of the extent to which parliamentary institutions have measurable influence on the outcome of regional organizations decision making processes Second drawing on the literature on new institutionalism and comparative regionalism the volume investigates the conditions under which the influence of parliamentary institutions is expected to grow thus advancing the understanding of the variation and development of this poorly explored type of international institution The book is aimed at scholars of global governance international organization and comparative regionalism and will also be of interest to parliamentarians and parliamentary practitioners from national and international institutions

Comparative Area Studies Ariel I. Ahram, Patrick Köllner, Rudra Sil, 2018-01-03 In Comparative Area Studies the editors and contributors are motivated by two basic convictions first that intensive regional research remains indispensable to the social sciences and second that this research risks becoming marginalized in the absence of concerted efforts to link it to disciplinary concepts and theories that have relevance beyond a single region
