TONGUES OF FALLEN ANGELS. Selden Rodman, 1974

Disturbers of the Peace Kelly Baker Josephs, 2013-10-11 Exploring the prevalence of madness in Caribbean texts written in English in the mid twentieth century Kelly Baker Josephs focuses on celebrated writers such as Jean Rhys V S Naipaul and Derek Walcott as well as on understudied writers such as Sylvia Wynter and Erna Brodber Because mad figures appear frequently in Caribbean literature from French Spanish and English traditions in roles ranging from bit parts to first person narrators the author regards madness as a part of the West Indian literary aesthetic The relatively condensed decolonization of the anglophone islands during the 1960s and 1970s she argues makes literature written in English during this time especially rich for an examination of the function of madness in literary critiques of colonialism and in the Caribbean project of nation making In drawing connections between madness and literature gender and religion this book speaks not only to the field of Caribbean studies but also to colonial and postcolonial literature in general The volume closes with a study of twenty first century literature of the Caribbean diaspora demonstrating that Caribbean writers still turn to representations of madness to depict their changing worlds

The Crowning of a Poet's Quest Paola Loreto, 2009 This first extended study of Derek Walcott's Hound 2000 defines the book as the culmination of the poetry and poetic of the Caribbean writer and Nobel Prize winner In this long poem Walcott achieves three goals pursued throughout his career to develop an original Caribbean aesthetic to meld the modes of poetry and prose and to formulate the Bildung of the island artist in terms of an autobiographical narrative The analysis provides an aesthetic and cultural evaluation of the poem in terms both of the Western poetic tradition to which it refers through its rich intertextuality and of its significance as a postcolonial milestone The commentary locates Walcott in an aesthetic tradition running from Emerson through the American Pragmatists to modernist poets describes his experimental use of certain central narrative strategies in his semi autobiographical long poems which is compared to those of another openly admired bilingual writer Vladimir Nabokov explores Walcott's revision of the epic mode and of the genre of autobiography delineates his unfolding of a post Romantic internalization of the poet's

Arthurian quest and discusses his complex treatment of the multi layered metaphor of light as major evidence of the maturity of his style and poetic with their conscious cross fertilization between the literary cultures of Europe and the Caribbean An appendix to this study contains the transcriptions of various Walcott events that took place in Italy in the summers of 2000 and 2001 including a creative writing seminar a press conference and readings This extensive material opens a window onto Walcott s gifts as a teacher to his stringent yet passionate commitment to the art of poetry and to the ways in which he and his students grapple with the challenges of literary translation

Conversations with V. S. Naipaul Feroza F.

Jussawalla,1997 This collection brings together interviews from a thirty six year span and reveals a witty sometimes scathing talker with a free ranging curiosity In early interviews mostly given to such fellow writers and colleagues as Derek Walcott and Eric Roach Naipul is clipped brusque and clearly impatient with interviewers More recent interviews given primarily to journalists rather than literary figures reveal a more mellow Naipaul often warm passionate and forthcoming about his private life

Nobody's Nation Paul Breslin,2009-02-15 Nobody's Nation offers an illuminating look at the St Lucian Nobel Prize winning writer

Derek Walcott and grounds his work firmly in the context of West Indian history Paul Breslin argues that Walcott's poems and plays are bound up with an effort to re imagine West Indian society since its emergence from colonial rule its ill fated attempt at political unity and its subsequent dispersal into tiny nation states According to Breslin Walcott's work is centrally concerned with the West Indies imputed absence from history and lack of cohesive national identity or cultural tradition Walcott sees this lack not as impoverishment but as an open space for creation In his poems and plays West Indian history becomes a realm of necessity something to be confronted contested and remade through literature What is most vexed and inspired in Walcott's work can be traced to this quixotic struggle Linking extensive archival research and new interviews with Walcott himself to detailed critical readings of major works Nobody's Nation will take its place as the definitive study of the poet
