Abstract: In this paper it is shown that the general relativity theory (GRT), which belongs to a class of metric theories of gravity, is based on a wrong assumption and contradicts the well established laws of physics and also its own maximum speed postulate. It is shown based on simple arguments of geometry that in GRT the motion of a test body in an orbit around the centrally gravitating mass does not satisfy the conservation of angular momentum and that the equation describing the equivalence of acceleration with the force of gravity violates the contravariance principle. Finally, it is shown that the GRT also violates the Gauss law. The critique rests on a comparison of the Schwarzschild metric, derived from Einstein field equations, with the previously derived author's new metric from which the Schwarzschild metric follows as a first order approximation but which is not derived from Einstein field equations. © 2011 Physics Essays Publication. Résumé: Dans cet article il est montré que la théorie de la relativité générale (GRT), qui appartient à une classe de théories métriques de la gravité, est fondée sur une hypothèse incorrecte qui contredit certaines lois acceptées de la physique et aussi son propre postulat de vitesse maximale. Il est montré, avec une simple argumentation de géométrie classique, que dans la GRT le mouvement d'un corps test dans une orbite autour d'une masse gravitante de façon centralisée ne satisfait pas la conservation du moment angulaire et que l'équation qui décrit l'équivalence d'accélération avec la force de gravité viole le principe de contravariance. Enfin, il est également montré que la GRT viole aussi la loi de Gauss. La critique se fonde sur une comparaison entre la métrique de Schwarzschild, dérivée à partir des équations de champ d'Einstein, et la nouvelle métrique dérivée par l'auteur précédemment, dont la métrique de Schwarzschild est une première approximation, mais qui n'est pas dérivée à partir des équations de champ d'Einstein.

I. INTRODUCTION

"A new scientific truth does not triumph by convincing its opponents and making them to see the light, but rather because its opponents eventually die, and a new generation grows up that is familiar with it." Max Planck

The critique of the general relativity theory (GRT) presented in this paper is based on a comparison of the Schwarzschild metric with the author's derived new metric published elsewhere.¹ To be historically accurate, it is also necessary to bring attention to the little publicized fact that the originally published Schwarzschild metric² is not the same as the metric that is called today the Schwarzschild metric. However, to be consistent with the volumes of published literature the Schwarzschild metric quoted in this paper will be the one that is commonly used. Both metrics, the new one and the today's Schwarzschild, describe the space-time of a nonrotating centrally gravitating body; therefore, the derivations are simple and easily understandable. The metrics also satisfy the well known four tests of gravitation theory to a precision available in today's observations although in a recent publication³ it was shown that in GRT the light deflection by a gravitating body is not calculated correctly; therefore, the GRT actually does not satisfy this famous test.

The general metric line element corresponding to either space-time the metrics describe can be written as follows:

$$ds^2 = g_{tt}(cdt)^2 - g_{rr}dr^2 - g_{\varphi\varphi}(d\theta^2 + \sin^2\theta d\varphi^2), \quad (1)$$

where the metric coefficients depend only on the radial coordinate. This form of metric assumes that according to the Riemann hypothesis the motion can be represented by a curved space-time in which the test bodies move in a free fall along geodesic lines not experiencing any forces in contrast to a flat space-time with fields and forces that guide the motion. This concept forms the basis for all metric theories of gravity (MTGs) and has also been adapted by Einstein in his derivation of general relativity theory. The Einstein's GRT, however, includes additional assumption related to the Ricci tensor that led to the derivation of Einstein field equations with the Schwarzschild metric as a solution. The Riemann principle is thus more general than the GRT and allows derivation of other metrics describing the space-time not only the Schwarzschild metric. For the purposes of this article the details of the metrics derivations are not very important; only Revisiting the Foundations of Relativistic Physics Ashtekar, 2011-06-28 This book is for physicists, historians, and philosophers of physics, as well as students seeking an introduction to ongoing debates in relativistic and quantum physics. This title is unique in that it comprises contributions by leading physicists, philosophers, and historians of science. It covers the recent debates on the emergence of relativity and quantum theory. It includes chapters with an introductory character, comprehensible to students and science teachers. It can be used in graduate-level courses in the history and philosophy of science. It strengthens the bonds between the communities of scientists, historians, and philosophers.

The Worldwide List of Alternative Theories and Critics Jean de Climent, 2020-11-01 This Worldwide List of Alternative Theories and Critics, only available in English language, includes scientists involved in scientific fields. The 2023 issue of this directory includes the scientists found in the Internet. The scientists of the directory are only those involved in physics, natural philosophy. The list includes 9700 names of scientists, doctors, or diploma engineers for more than 70%. Their position is shortly presented together with their proposed alternative theory when applicable. There are nearly 3500 authors of such theories, all amazingly very different from one another. The main categories of theories are presented in another book of Jean de Climent: THE ALTERNATIVE THEORIES. A biographical critique of Voltaire, by John Morley. Essays in Critical, Contemporary, and Philosophical Rhetoric Raymie E. McKerrow, 2024-10-24 This text is a representative sample of my research focus in contemporary rhetoric since the mid-1970s. It highlights work that explores themes expressed in the text's title. While not an exhaustive account of the themes, the text provides easy access to theoretical issues in rhetorical studies. These include topics such as the role of culture, citizenship, how space and time interact to affect the words we use and the impulse to use language in critiquing the expressions of others The collection is designed to be used by faculty teaching upper level undergraduate to doctoral level courses in rhetoric at colleges and universities in the USA It also will be a resource at universities across the globe The goal is to stimulate thought and provoke critical responses to the ideas and arguments contained in the essays Thus this is a text to be used to assist scholars and students as they engage in their own work
